Not illustrated. 1852 Excerpt: .think everything had the appearance of a successful issue, if we had come to an engagement on that day. It was the 5th of March, which I recalled to their remembrance as a day never to be forgotten; an engagement was fully expected, and I never saw think could give no offence; but to place Colonel Thompson there in the first command, would throw every thing into the utmost confusion, for it was by mere chance he became a colonel upon this expedition, and by greater chance he became first colonel, in this army; to take him then from another colony, place him over the heads of several gentlemen under, or with whom, he has served in a low and subordinate character, a S. low and omitted. would never answer any other purpose but that of introducing endless confusion, --such a thing surely cannot be in contemplation, and knowing the mischiefs it would produce, surely Colonel Thompson would have more sense and a greater regard for the cause he is engaged in, than to accept of it; unless some uncommon abilities or exertions had given him a superior claim. He must know that nothing more than being a captain of horse in the year 1759 (I think it was,) did very extraordinarily give him the start he now has, when the rank was settled here: --at the same time he must know another fact, that several officers now in the Virginia service, were much his...
