The first commission, which Apostles received from their divine Master, required them to go not into the way of the Gentiles; but to go rather to the lost sheep of the house of Israel. Hence the preaching of repentance and remission of sins in Christ s name began at Jerusalem. And in the history of the Acts we often find these ministers of the holy Jesus in the synagogues of the Jews, preaching the kingdom of God. The context relates the conduct of Paul and Barnabas in this respect, and gives a particular account of the treatment they received from the Jews at Antioch. Being in the synagogue on the sabbath day, they were requested by the rulers, after the reading of the law and the prophets, to give a word of exhortation to the people. St. Paul improves the opportunity by applying what had been read from the scriptures to the character and mission of the Son of God. He addresses himself particularly to the men of Israel, children of the stock of Abraham, saying, To you is the word of this salvation sent.
